

What is claimed is:

1. A method of constructing a membrane probe comprising:

- 5 (a) providing a substrate;
- (b) creating a depression within said substrate;
- (c) locating conductive material within said depression;
- (d) connecting a conductive trace to said
10 conductive material; and
- (e) removing said substrate from said conductive material.

0
5
10
15
20
25
30
35
40
45
50
55
60
65
70
75
80
85
90
95
100